THOUSANDS ENJOY LEGION'S BIG PICNIC

Occasion Proves A Success In Every Way, Financially, Socially and Otherwise

That insurance policy the Legion boys took out for good weather Thursday their picnic day certainly worked wonders.

The weather couldn't have been improved upon; the crowd was enormous, the ball game a dandy, and everybody had a big time.

The members of Jesse M. Dykes Post of the American Legion certainly did themselves proud with their first annual picnic. They, in fact, covered themselves with glory, and showed that when it comes to putting on a thing right, you can't beat the legionnaires, no matter whether it is a scrap with the Hun or a picnic on the river.

Until the boys count the huge pile of cash that accumulated during the day, it's hard to tell just how much they did make. The figures are going to run above four, however, and everybody is well pleased for the boys worked faithfully and hard and tried to make everybody have a big day.

Various estimates were made as to the size of the crowd. Many believe there were fully 5,000 there. Almost 3,000 tickets were sold for the ball game at 50 cents apiece and a host of others, who couldn't get near the auto-circled diamond, didn't buy tickets for it but contented themselves with paying 25 cents admission, and enjoying the delight of the bathing beach, the dancing pavilion and other features.

Sam Black, of Richmond, won the Ford turning car awarded after the ball game. His number was 130.

The concessions were all operated by members of the Legion themselves, thus adding further to their exchequer. There was plenty to eat and drink, the chow was enjoyed and the soft drinks were always in demand.

The best of order was maintained. Only one man in all the thousands was seen under the slightest influence of liquor and he was a visitor from some neighboring town, unknown here, who made himself conspicuous once in a while at the ball game.

The Legion boys in uniform saw to it that things were kept moving, and things did, without a hitch. It was a big day and the thousands that came from Madison, Clark, Estill, Fayette, and scores of more distant counties, left in the evening, pleased and delighted.

It is understood that the local Legion post plans to build or buy a club house, and that the proceeds of the big picnic will form the nucleus of a fund to go to that purpose eventually.

JOHN T. COLLINS DIES IN BOURBON COUNTY

Paris, Ky., Aug. 26—John Trumble Collins, 54 years old, one of the most prominent citizens of Bourbon county and Central Kentucky, died at his home "Collinswood," Thursday morning at 11 o'clock.

Mr. Collins was president of the Bourbon Agricultural Bank and Trust Company, manager of the Bourbon-Paris tobacco warehouse and an owner of 700 acres of Bluegrass land, extensively engaged in farming and the handling of fine stock.

Besides his wife, Mr. Collins is survived by one son, Captain William Collins, three daughters, Mrs. Stanley Dixon, and Misses Marie and Emma Louise Collins, and two sisters, Mrs. W. S. Jones and Mrs. John J. Redmon, all of North Middletown.

He was married in 1889 to Miss Mary Collins at the home of her grandfather, John F. Talbott. Mr. and Mrs. Collins were school mates at Kentucky Classical College at North Middletown and were both graduated in 1886.

LABOR IS AGAINST STATE CONSTABULARY

(By Associated Press)
Madisonville, Ky., Aug. 26—Repeal of the Kentucky sedition law and opposition to the establishment of a state constabulary in Kentucky will be voiced by the convention of the Kentucky State Federation of Labor here in September, according to Secretary Peter J. Campbell, of Louisville, who was in the city recently looking after preliminary arrangements for the session which will begin here September 12.

There will be a number of questions before the assembly for consideration, Mr. Campbell said, ranging in importance from consideration of the matters mentioned above to what he characterized as "peanut politics." The more vital matters, he said, will be consideration of miner's safety laws, regulations regarding wash rooms and other details for safeguarding the lives and comfort of the workers.

Opposition of miners to the state constabulary bill which will come before the next general assembly, Secretary Campbell said, is founded on two factors—the fact that the Kentucky coal fields are practically free from disturbances affecting fields in other states from time to time and the miners' contention that the support of the state police system will entail a tax of several cents on every ton of coal mined.

Sessions of the convention here will be open to the public, it was stated.

FRANK TO PITCH FOR BEARS SATURDAY

The Richmond Bears hook up with the fast Berea team at Greenland Park Saturday at 3:30. This is the fourth and deciding game of the four-game series between the two clubs. The first game was a tie and the next one was in favor of the Bears. Berea won the last game and this one is to be played to decide which is the better team. "Tot" Frank is to be on the hill for the Bears and a very fast game is expected. Frank has been going good of late and the local management put a feather in their cap when they secured him to work for them against Berea which carries a team that is likely to spill some poor pitcher's beans at any time. Welch is to be on the mound for the enemy and he is sure to cause the local batsmen some trouble as he has been a puzzle to them. It is about time that the Bears were getting on to him and the time set by manager McKinney is Saturday at 3:30.

The local players that are to be out in uniform are Barnett, S. Rogers, Ashill, Robinson, Covington, C. Dunn, D. Chenaunt, Deatherage, Hisle, Frank and Clark. An admission of 25 cents will be charged at the gate.

The Athletic Contests

Much interest was manifested in the various athletic contests at the Legion picnic Thursday. Lem Rowlett carried off two prizes winning the fat man's race and catching the greasy pig. Baxter and Bunch wrestled without a fall in two ten-minute rounds, and Kelly and Gordon boxed a five-round draw. The playing of the Legion Band under Bandmaster Jim Leeds was a delightful feature of the day.

HARD TIME GETTING THAT BAILEY JURY

Special Venire Is Being Examined At Mt. Vernon—Defense Excuses Six In A Row

Jury Completed

(By Associated Press)
Mount Vernon, Ky., Aug. 26—A jury to try John Bailey on a charge of slaying Beverley White was completed before noon adjournment of court today.

Mt. Vernon, Ky., Aug. 26—With nine men in the jury box, six of them accepted by both sides efforts to secure a jury to try John Bailey, mountain fendist, charged with the murder of Beverley D. White, of Versailles, at Heidrick's Station, Knox county, last April, late Thursday were halted until 9 o'clock Friday morning. The delay was caused by exhaustion of the venire summoned by Special Bailiff K. J. McKinney, of Brodhead, who was named to handle the Bailey case when Sheriff Tip Langford was disqualified.

Names of probably fifty men were drawn from the jury wheel and McKinney and Special Deputy William Bullock, Sam Field and B. H. Parsons started out to serve notice on the prospective jurors.

After delays that have held up the case since last Monday, when it was first called, work of collecting a legal jury to try Bailey proceeded with rapidity. Court adjourned soon after opening and received the report of the jury commission, which was instructed to clear the jury wheel and place in it the names of 300 persons. During the period it was in session the prosecution presented an affidavit by John G. White, brother of the dead man, that he had reason to believe that Sheriff Langford was prejudiced in favor of Bailey. This affidavit resulted in Langford being disqualified from acting in the Bailey case.

In the afternoon the court overruled a motion of the defense, seeking to have the panel drawn declared illegal, the motion being based on contentions that Judge B. J. Bethurum had exceeded his authority in ordering the jury wheel cleared and refilled. With this out of the way selection of the jury was taken up and within an hour and a half the prosecution had secured twelve men satisfactory to it. The defense, however, struck six of the twelve from the list and selection of three others had been made by the prosecution when the venire was exhausted and court adjourned for the day.

The men in the jury box who have been accepted by both sides and who will serve as jurors barring the unexpected are: W. O. Yaden, merchant, Brodhead; Alfred Owens, farmer, Mt. Vernon; P. Allbright, farmer, Brodhead; Jim Sexton, farmer, Mt. Vernon; R. F. Shidal, farmer, Mt. Vernon; and T. N. Dees, farmer, Livingston, Ky. The three talesmen passed by the state but not yet passed on by the defense, were: W. A. McKinney, farmer, Hansford; J. L. Adams, farmer, Hyatt; and J. R. Poynter, farmer, Livingston.

Counsel in the case received a notable addition when A. Floyd Byrd, of Lexington and Jackson, prosecutor in the famous Breathitt county feud cases a few years ago, appeared as additional counsel for the prosecution. Commonwealth's Attorney Flippin now has in addition, to T. L. Bethurum, of this city, aiding him, Mr. Byrd and B. B. Golden, republican nominee for commonwealth's attorney of the Bell-Harlan district.

STATE FAIR SADDLE STAKE TO BE GREAT

Prominent Horsemen of Kentucky and Elsewhere Have Entries In Rich Event

(By Associated Press)

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 26—The world championship for five-gaited saddle horses, to be determined at the Kentucky State Fair, may fall to a hitherto unknown horse. For among the thirty nominations only a few old timers in the show ring are eligible. The nominating stables are allowed until September 1 to designate the horse that will carry each individual's colors.

The $10,000 saddle horse stake will be shown in four divisions: The opening night, Monday, September 12, will be featured by the stallion division, the nominating stables being George S. Bole, of Tulsa, Okla.; A. G. Lyon, Owensboro, Ky.; W. L. Lewis, Tulsa, Okla.; two entries by A. C. Jones & Sons, North Middletown, Ky.; James N. Lang, Paducah, Ky.; S. J. Thompson, Hodgenville, Ky.; W. D. Mountjoy, Lawrenceburg, and F. W. Matthiessen, Triunfo, Calif. Among probable entries will be Admiral King, winner of the stake last year; Highland Choice, who has been a strong contender for the last three years and Liberty Bond. The others will be making their first appearance in the Kentucky show ring.

The nominating stables will have entries in the mare division the second night, Tuesday, Sept. 13, are George S. Bole, Tulsa, Okla.; W. L. Lewis, Tulsa, Okla.; J. R. McKinney and Son, Richmond, Ky.; T. W. Minton & Co., Barbourville, Ky.; F. P. Ralston, Colorado Springs, Colo.; G. S. McDonnell, Tulsa, Okla.; A. C. Long, Delaware, O.; E. W. Matthiessen, Triunfo, Calif., and J. P. Crozer, Upland, Pa. The only horses in this division ever in the show ring before, which are among the probable entries, are Violet Henning, who created a sensation at the South Shore Country Club, Chicago, in June; Lila Lee, winner of the Castleman Cup last year at the Kentucky State Fair; Helen Brannan, The Vamp, Mayflower, and Emma Evans.

Nominating stables for the gelding division which will be shown Wednesday night, are George S. Bole, Tulsa, Okla.; W. L. Lewis, Tulsa, Okla.; A. J. Jones & Son, North Middletown, Ky.; Henry M. Hobbie, Montgomery, Ala.; R. M. Milliken, Pewee Valley, Ky.; Charles L. Cook, Shelbyville, Ky.; Joe B. Davis, Nelsonville, O.; F. W. Matthiessen, Triunfo, Calif.; E. C. The prominent entries in this division probably will be Mass of Gold, the grand championship winner in 1920; Sinbad and Bit of Glory, both of whom were shown at the fair last year and Matinee Idol, who has achieved fame as a show horse in Missouri.

The grand championship will be decided on Saturday. In this event the first, second and third prize winners in each division will compete for supreme honors.
